

Jennifer Saueressig, RN | Clinical Quality Manager

Jennifer Saueressig joined CHAD in December 2021 as the clinical quality manager. She brings a strong background in primary care nursing and clinic management to CHAD. Jenn facilitates and manages clinically related networks and supports quality improvement and clinical measurement activities with assessment, evaluation, and feedback. She serves as a resource and provides training and technical assistance to health center staff on clinical quality issues and services. In addition, Jenn is the clinical liaison for the Great Plains Health Data Network.

Jenn recently served as the clinic nurse manager for Northland Health Centers in North Dakota. Her primary responsibilities were to lead by example and motivate staff to deliver high-quality health care to medically underserved patients in North Dakota. Jennifer also provided clinical expertise, supervised care delivery systems to ensure accuracy and consistency, and recognized and assisted in solving clinical and administrative problems.

Jenn received her nursing degree from the Dakota Nursing Program in 2010. She is an active member of her local Grace Lutheran Church, where she runs the Sunday school program and vacation bible school in the summer. When not busy with sports and other activities, she and her family enjoy camping, spending time at the lake near their farm, and traveling to the Black Hills in South Dakota. Jennifer lives in McClusky, ND, and has three children ages six, nine, and eleven and four dogs: a corgi, two blue heelers, and a mixed breed.
