

Emily Haberling | Outreach and Enrollment Navigator

Emily Haberling joined CHAD in February 2024 as the outreach and enrollment navigator, where she plays a crucial role in assisting and educating community members regarding their eligibility for assistance and insurance programs, focusing on enhancing access to healthcare coverage for underserved populations in South Dakota.

Even though Emily is new to the working world, she has experience as a certified nurse assistant and medication aide throughout her high school and college days. Most recently, Emily worked for Avera as an admissions specialist where she efficiently coordinated patient admissions to ensure a smooth and seamless process.

Emily is a graduate of South Dakota State University with a bachelor's degree in community and public health. She also has minors in health science and health communications. Emily lives in Sioux Falls. She enjoys attending any and all SDSU Jackrabbit sporting events, reading, and spending time with family and close friends.
